DEPOSITS OF GOLD.

During the year the amount of original deposits of gold at the mints and assay offices of the United States, including gold contained in silver deposits and purchases, was 3,865,136.342 standard ounces, of the value of $71,909,513.31, showing an increase as compared with the previous fiscal year of 1,368,457.359 standard ounces, of the value of $25,459,671.81.

The value of the redeposits of gold during the year was $69,033,032.17, an increase over 1893 of $64,642,968.14, making an aggregate increase in the total amount deposited during the year of $90,102,639.95.

The classification of silver bullion deposited at the mints and assay offices is not exact, as fine silver bars, the product of private refineries in the United States, delivered on purchases, were without exception classified as of domestic production, although frequently composed, to a great extent, of silver obtained from ore and bullion imported from Mexico and smelted and refined in the United States.

The domestic silver coin received and melted by the mints during the year consisted of $7,184,472.17 in worn and uncurrent coin transferred from the Treasury for recoinage, and $5,247.95 in mutilated coin purchased at the mints as bullion, making the total amount of domestic silver coin received and melted by the mints during the year $7,189,720.12.

Of the fine gold bars redeposited, 3,235,212.931 standard ounces, of the value of $60,190,008.03, were bars that had accumulated in the United States assay office at New York since 1881, and which it became necessary to transfer to the mint at Philadelphia for conversion into coin to meet the demands upon the Treasury for gold coin. There were also 46,132.601 ounces of standard gold in fine bars and 3,121.513 ounces in standard bars, of the coining value of $916,355.61, refined at the mint at Carson, Nev., and transferred to the mint at San Francisco for coinage. The remainder, 4,580.355 ounces of standard gold of the coining value of $85,215.90, were large bars redeposited at the assay office at New York for conversion into small bars for use in the industrial arts.

The redeposits of 3,121.513 ounces of standard metal of the value of $58,074.66, represent the value of standard gold bullion on hand June 1, 1893, the date of the suspension of coinage operations at the mint at Carson, and which were transferred to the mint at San Francisco for conversion into coin.

The nominal or face value of uncurrent domestic gold coin received and melted by the mints and assay offices of the United States during the year was $2,105,984; of this sum $1,500,070.50 consisted of worn and uncurrent coin transferred by the Treasury to the mints for recoinage, and the remainder, $605,913.50, was mutilated and uncurrent coin received from individuals. The value of the total amount in new coins of the old and uncurrent gold coin received during the year was $2,093,615.46. The refined bullion classed as original deposits was the product of private refineries in the United States.

In the Appendix (p. 240) a table will be found showing the distribution of the amount of unrefined gold bullion deposited at the mints and assay offices of the United States during the year among the States and Territories that produced the same.

The coining value of gold and silver (exclusive of redeposits) received at the mints and assay offices of the United States each fiscal year from 1880, is shown in the following table:

The gold coinage was the largest ever executed by the mints in any one year since the organization of the Mint.

The silver dollars coined during the fiscal year 1894 were made from bullion purchased under the act of July 14, 1890. The amount of bullion consumed in this coinage was 586.27 fine ounces, costing $530.99, giving a profit of $227.01, which has been paid into the Treasury.

Of the subsidiary silver coinage executed during the year, $6,018,872.60 were from bullion resulting from the melting of worn and uncurrent silver coin transferred from the Treasury for recoinage and $5,267.70 from silver bullion acquired under the provisions of section 3526 Revised Statutes of the United States.

During the year there were transferred from the Treasury to the mints for recoinage worn and uncurrent silver coin of the nominal value of $7,184,472.17, containing 5,565,770.36 ounces of standard silver of the coining value in new subsidiary silver coin of $6,924,753.05, showing a loss by wear of $259,719.12, which sum was reimbursed the Treasury from the appropriation for loss on recoinage of worn and uncurrent silver coin.

The amount and cost of silver bullion on hand July 1, 1893, available for the subsidiary silver coinage, the amount obtained by purchase and transfer, the amount used in coinage, wasted, and sold in sweeps during the year, and the balance on hand July 1, 1894, are shown in the following table:

The total coinage of silver dollars under the act of July 14, 1890, up to June 30, 1894, was $36,087,943, consuming 27,911,768.41 ounces fine, which cost $29,110,647.24.

The seigniorage on the same was $6,977,295.76.

From July 1 to November 1, 1894, 2,443,200 standard silver dollars containing 1,889,662.46 ounces fine, costing $1,656,435.73, were coined from bullion purchased under the same act, giving a seigniorage of $786,764.27, which has been covered into the Treasury.

The total number of silver dollars coined under the acts of February 28, 1878, July 14, 1890, and March 3, 1891, to November 1, 1894, is shown in the following statement:

Tables will be found in the Appendix (p. 256) to this report, giving the denominations and values of coins manufactured by the several mints during the fiscal year 1894, and during the calendar year 1893; also showing the coinage for each calendar year since the organization of the mint of the United States in 1792 to the close of the fiscal year 1894 (p. 320).

MINOR COINAGE.

The amount of minor coinage executed by the mint at Philadelphia during the fiscal year 1894 was $719,619.26, against $1,086,112.90 for the fiscal year 1893, a decrease of $369,183.64.

No minor coins were issued from the mint during the year to any of the following cities, viz: Washington, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, or New Orleans, as the amount of such coin, and especially of 5-cent nickel pieces, presented to the Treasury for redemption in lawful money showed them to be redundant. The coinage of both the 1-cent bronze pieces and the 5-cent nickel pieces was therefore suspended in April, 1894, and provisions made that when the supply of these coins then on hand at the mint at Philadelphia had been exhausted in filling orders from cities other than those above named transfers of minor coins might be made from the surplus stock in the Treasury to the mint in such amounts as might be required to fill any orders received for the same.

The stock of 5-cent nickel pieces in the several subtreasuries would be ample to meet the requirements for some time to come but for the fact that many such pieces transferred to the mint at Philadelphia for cleaning and reissue are of old types and unfit for circulation.

These latter will be melted and recoined, as will other denominations of minor coins unfit for circulation.

It has recently been found necessary to resume the coinage of the 1-cent bronze piece for the reason that the stock on hand at the mint and in the Treasury was not sufficient to meet the demands for the same outside of the cities above mentioned.

If the mint at Philadelphia were made the sole redemption agency for minor coins, their issue could, it is believed, be confined to an amount sufficient to supply the demands, and no great redundancy of them would ever occur. Another advantage of this would be that none but coins in good condition would be paid out and complaints from this cause by the general public would not be heard.

The following table exhibits the distribution of minor coins during the fiscal year 1894:

SILVER PURCHASES.

From July 1 to November 1, 1893, the date of the repeal of the purchasing clause of the act of July 14, 1890, silver bullion was purchased by the Secretary of the Treasury under the provisions of said act. Offers for the sale of silver in lots of 10,000 ounces and over were received and considered on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays of each week, and the superintendent of the mints at Philadelphia, New Orleans, San Francisco, and Carson were authorized to purchase lots of less than 10,000 ounces, at a price fixed from time to time by the Director of the Mint, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, the price being determined in accordance with the prevailing market rate. The amount of silver purchased under the provisions of the act of July 14, 1890, from July 1 to November 1, 1894, aggregated 11,917,658.78 ounces fine, costing $8,715,521.32. The average cost per ounce fine was $0.7313, at which rate the bullion value of the silver dollar is $0.5656.

The total amount of silver purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, from August 13, 1890, the date the act went into effect, to November 1, 1893, the date of the repeal of its purchasing clause, aggregated 168,674,682.53 ounces fine, costing $155,931,002.25, the coining value of the same in silver dollars being $218,084,438. Of the amount purchased there was used up to November 1, 1894, in the coinage of 38,531,143 silver dollars 29,801,430.88 ounces fine, costing $30,767,082.97.

The amount wasted by the operative officers of the mints and sold in sweeps was 63,570.37 ounces fine, costing $62,535.64, leaving a balance on hand November 1, 1894, of 138,809,681.28 ounces fine, costing $125,101,383.64, the coining value of the same in silver dollars being 179,471,103, and which would give a seignorage of $54,369,719.36.

The quantity and cost of silver purchased from July 1 to November 1, 1893, at each of the coinage mints is shown in the following tables:

COURSE OF SILVER.

On the 1st of July, 1893, the London quotation for silver .925 (British standard), was $33\frac{1}{4}$ pence, equivalent to \$0.7343 in United States money, for silver 1000 fine. The New York quotation on the same day fluctuated from 72 to 74 cents per ounce fine. After this date there was a gradual advance in the price, owing to the fact that large purchases continued to be made on Indian account, notwithstanding the mints of that country had been closed to deposits of silver for coinage on individual account, and from the further fact that for the first time China became an important buyer of bar silver and continued to purchase large amounts until near the close of the year.

The advance was uninterrupted until September 12, when the price in London for bars ready for immediate shipment was $34\frac{1}{2}$ pence, equivalent to \$0.7562 per ounce fine. At this date the New York quotation for fine bar silver ranged from $74\frac{1}{2}$ to 76 cents per ounce. From this point the price declined, closing October 31, 1893, in London at $31\frac{1}{2}$ pence, equivalent to 69 cents per ounce fine.

November 1, the date of the repeal of the purchasing clause of the act of July 14, 1890, the London price was $31\frac{1}{2}$ pence, equivalent to 69 cents per ounce fine. From this date the price advanced, until on the 18th it had risen to $32\frac{3}{4}$ pence, equivalent to \$0.71791 per ounce fine, but declined from this point, and closing on the 30th at 32 pence, equivalent to \$0.7015 per ounce fine.

During the month of December, 1893, the London price ranged from $31\frac{1}{2}$ to $32\frac{5}{8}$ pence, and the New York quotation from $68\frac{3}{4}$ to $70\frac{1}{2}$ cents.

In January, 1894, the price commenced to fall, and continued to decline until March, when it had reached 27 pence in London, equivalent to \$0.59187 per ounce fine, which is the lowest recorded price. After this the price gradually advanced, closing April 30 in London at $29\frac{1}{8}$ pence, equivalent to \$0.63845 per ounce fine. From this the price again declined, and the closing price in London June 30 was $28\frac{3}{4}$ pence, or 63 cents per ounce fine.

At the highest price ($34\frac{1}{2}$ pence) of silver during the fiscal year, the bullion value of the silver dollar was 59.13 cents, and at the lowest (27 pence) 45.77 cents. Since the close of the fiscal year the price has fluctuated in the London market from $28\frac{7}{8}$ to $30\frac{7}{8}$ pence, or from 62.338 to 66.722 cents per ounce fine.

SEIGNIORAGE ON SILVER COINAGE.

The balance of profits on the coinage of silver on hand at the mints at the commencement of the fiscal year, July 1, 1893, was $201,759.62. The seigniorage on the coinage of silver dollars during the year amounted to $227.01, and on the subsidiary coinage to $2,729.10; a total of $2,956.11.

From the seigniorage there were paid during the year for expenses of distributing silver coin $2,638.85, and for reimbursements on silver wasted by the operative officers and for bullion sold in sweeps $673.24. The balance of profits on the coinage of silver on hand at the mints June 30, 1894, was $2,294.84.

Including the balance on hand at the mints July 1, 1878, the net profits on account of the coinage of silver from that date to June 30, 1894, aggregates $74,262,615.01.

The total seigniorage on the coinage of silver under the act of July 14, 1890, from August 13, 1890, to June 30, 1894, was $6,977,295.76; and from July 1 to November 1, 1894, $786,764.27; a total seigniorage under this act of $7 764,060.03.

A table will be found in the Appendix (p. 262), exhibiting the seigniorage on the silver coinage during the fiscal year at each mint, and the disposition of the same.

APPROPRIATIONS AND EXPENDITURES.

The amount specifically appropriated for the support of the mints and assay offices by the act making appropriations for the legislative, executive, and judicial expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1894, aggregated $1,050,100.

It became necessary to obtain appropriations to supply deficiencies in the following appropriations for the fiscal year 1894:

For wages of workmen and adjusters at the mint at Philadelphia, $46,000.

For contingent expenses, mint at Philadelphia, $16,969.37.

For wages of workmen and adjusters, mint at New Orleans, $6,500.

And for freight on bullion and coin between mints and assay offices, $10,503.85.

The necessity for the additional appropriation for wages of workmen and adjusters at the Philadelphia Mint was due to the large gold coinage necessary to be done at that institution to meet the requirements of the Treasury. In order to do this, it was not only necessary to employ, temporarily, additional workmen and adjusters but to work a large portion of the force overtime.

The appropriation of $16,969.37 for contingent expenses was necessary to reimburse the Treasury for the amount allowed the coiner and melter and refiner for wastage in their gold and silver operations during the year, under the provisions of section 3542, Revised Statutes of the United States.

The deficiency in the appropriation for freight on bullion and coin between the mints and assay offices was due to the amount of gold bullion transferred from the United States assay office at New York and the increase in the deposits of gold bullion at the minor assay offices, which was transferred to the mint at Philadelphia for coinage, and also to the further fact that the gold bullion deposited at the mint at Carson since the suspension of the coinage operations at that institution had been transferred to the mint at San Francisco for coinage. In this connection it is proper to state that during the year the amount of gold bullion transferred from the assay office at New York to the mint at Philadelphia aggregated $50,207,000. The charges for transportation on the amount were $15,047.80, of which sum $12,536.80 were paid from the appropriation for contingent expenses of the mint at Philadelphia under section 3553, Revised Statutes of the United States, and the balance from the appropriation for freight on bullion and coin between the mints and assay offices, making the total amount paid for transportation of bullion $32,040.65.

The appropriation of $6,500 to supply a deficiency in the appropriation for wages of workmen and of adjusters at the mint at New Orleans was necessary to continue coinage operations at that institution during the month of June, and the recoinage of uncurrent subsidiary silver coin required to supply the demand of the Treasury.

The aggregate appropriations, including deficiencies, for the support of the mint service during the year amounted to $1,130,073.22.

The expenditures during the year from the appropriations aggregated $1,045,122.73, leaving an unexpended balance of $84,950.49. In addition to the expenditures from the regular appropriations there was expended from the general appropriation contained in the act of July 14, 1890, authorizing the purchase of silver bullion and for other purposes, the sum of $23,096.46. This expenditure was due to the weighing and counting of the large amounts of silver bullion and coin, incident to the change in the superintendency of the mint at Philadelphia; there was also expended from the same appropriation $393 for cablegrams from London, reporting the daily price of silver bullion. Adding to the expenditures from the specific appropriations the amount of $23,489.46, expended from the appropriation contained in the act of July 14, 1890, the total expenditures on account of the mint service for the year were $1,068,612.19.

The following table exhibits the appropriations and expenditures of the respective mints and assay offices, exclusive of the sum of $393 paid for cablegrams, as previously stated:

The estimates of the appropriations for the support of the mint service, including the office of the Director of the Mint, for the fiscal year 1896, submitted October 24, 1894, amounted to $1,065,210—$29,700 in excess of the appropriation for the current year.

The estimate of the appropriation for freight on bullion and coin between the mints and assay offices, which is increased from $9,000 to $30,000, makes up $21,000 of the increase.

The addition asked for is due to the largely increasing deposits of gold bullion at the United States mint at Denver and the United States assay office at Helena, Mont.

The increase asked for in the appropriation for wages of workmen and contingent expenses at these institutions is due to the same cause.

EARNINGS AND EXPENDITURES OF THE REFINERIES, OF THE COINAGE MINTS, AND OF THE ASSAY OFFICE AT NEW YORK.

The charges collected for the operations of parting and refining bullion during the fiscal year 1894 aggregated $147,591.92, exclusive of the amounts received from the sale of by-products, $14,197.71, which is not applicable to the payment of the expenses of parting and refining bullion, but is deposited and covered into the Treasury as a miscellaneous receipt.

The gross expenditures for the year on account of these operations amounted to $170,130.68, showing an excess of expenditures over charges collected of $22,538.76, deducting the amount realized from the sale of by-products, leaves the net excess of expenditures $8,341.05.

The charges collected for and the expenses of parting and refining bullion during the fiscal year 1894 are exhibited in the following table:

The total estimated stock of gold and silver coin in the United States on July 1, 1894, is given in the above table at $1,078,095,216; gold $582,512,083, and silver $495,583,133. Of the silver coin $419,333,208 were in silver dollars and $76,249,925 in subsidiary pieces.

As a new estimate was made (Report on the Production of Precious Metals, 1893) of the amount of gold and silver coin used in the arts ($1,500,000 in gold and $100,000 in silver yearly, instead of $3,500,000 in gold and $200,000 in silver), it will be noticed that the gold coin balance on July 1, 1893, is increased $1,000,000 and silver coin $50,000.

The amounts of gold and silver coin melted for recoinage represent their nominal values, the silver coins being worn, subsidiary pieces transferred from the Treasury to the mints, and all mutilated pieces of that class of coin being purchased at the mints or assay offices as bullion.

The value of the gold and silver bullion belonging to the Government in the mints and assay offices on July 1, 1894, was as follows:

BULLION IN MINTS AND ASSAY OFFICES JULY 1, 1894.

Metals.	Value.
Gold.....	$44,781,118
Silver (cost).....	128,666,824

The stock of silver bullion as reported on June 30, 1894, on deposit with the Mercantile Safe Deposit Company, in New York City, was 154,674 fine ounces, the commercial value of which was $97,800, the price of silver at that date being $0.6323 per ounce fine.

The stock of coin in the United States, the gold and silver bullion belonging to the Government, together with the silver held by the Mer-mercantile Safe Deposit Company, constituted the total metallic stock of the United States on July 1, 1894, as shown in the following table:

METALLIC STOCK OF THE UNITED STATES JULY 1, 1894.

Gold.....	$627,293,201
Silver (including bullion in mints and Mercantile Safe Deposit Co.).....	624,347,757

The estimated metallic stock of the United States on July 1, 1893, was as follows:

Gold.....	$597,697,685
Silver (including bullion in mints and Mercantile Safe Deposit Co.).....	615,861,484
Total.....	1,213,559,169

By comparing the amounts in the above tables it will be noticed that the estimated stock of gold in the United States during the fiscal year increased $29,595,516, and that of silver $8,486,273, a total increase of $38,081,789.

The ownership of the stock of coin and gold and silver bullion in the United States on July 1, 1894, was as follows:

GOLD AND SILVER USED IN THE INDUSTRIAL ARTS.

As has been the custom in past years, inquiries have been made for the purpose of ascertaining the amount and value of gold and silver used in the industrial arts in the United States during the calendar year 1893.

Statements have been received from Government institutions and from private refineries showing the amount and value of the gold and silver bars sold to manufacturers and jewelers for use in the arts, and, as nearly as possible, the material used in the manufacture of such bars.

The quantity and value of gold and silver bars furnished manufacturers and jewelers by the United States assay office at New York during the calendar year 1893 are as follows:

The following table exhibits the quantity and value of bars furnished by the mint at Philadelphia for use in the industrial arts during the calendar year 1893:

The amounts of gold and silver furnished during the calendar year 1893 by private refineries for use in the industrial arts have been obtained by inquiries sent in the form of a circular letter to 49 firms, 47 of which replied.

Of the number replying, 18 reported that no bars were manufactured by them during the year. The weight and value of the bars manufactured by the remaining 29 firms are given below:

BARS FOR INDUSTRIAL USE FURNISHED GOLDSMITHS AND OTHERS BY PRIVATE REFINERIES DURING THE CALENDAR YEAR 1893.

Material used.	Gold bars manufactured.		Silver bars manufactured.

Total	207,313.336	4,285,547	2,673,783	3,457,013

In the above table it will be noticed that the amounts of "United States bars," that is, bars bearing the stamp of the mint at Philadelphia or assay office at New York, furnished by private refineries for industrial uses during the year were: Gold, $1,286,791; silver, $830,953.

As these bars are included in the amounts reported to the Bureau by the Philadelphia mint and New York assay office, it is necessary to eliminate the item representing them from the amounts reported by private refineries.

The weight and value of gold and silver bars other than those bearing the stamp of the mint at Philadelphia or assay office at New York are given in the following table:

BARS FOR INDUSTRIAL USE (EXCLUSIVE OF GOVERNMENT BARS) FURNISHED GOLDSMITHS AND OTHERS BY PRIVATE REFINERIES DURING THE CALENDAR YEAR 1893.

The value of the gold and silver bars furnished for industrial uses by Government and private refineries during the calendar year 1893 was as follows:

GOLD AND SILVER BARS FURNISHED FOR USE IN MANUFACTURES AND THE ART DURING THE CALENDAR YEAR 1893, AND CLASSIFICATION OF THE MATERIAL USED.

Material.	Gold.	Silver.	Total.
Domestic bullion	$8,354,482	$6,570,737	$14,925,219

Total	12,523,523	9,534,277	22,057,800

For the purpose of comparison, the following table, exhibiting the value of gold and silver furnished for industrial uses by Government institutions and private refineries during the calendar year 1892, is given:

GOLD AND SILVER BARS FURNISHED FOR USE IN MANUFACTURES AND THE ARTS DURING THE CALENDAR YEAR 1892, AND CLASSIFICATION OF THE MATERIAL USED.

Material.	Gold.	Silver.	Total.
Domestic bullion	$10,588,703	$7,204,210	$17,792,913

Total	16,616,408	9,106,540	25,722,948

By comparing the tables for the two years, it will be seen that there has been a decrease in the value of gold employed in the industrial arts during the calendar year 1893 of $4,093,000, while the value of silver thus employed has increased $428,000.

The amount of United States gold coin reported as having been used in the manufacture of bars for industrial purposes was $587,622.

No United States silver coin was reported as having been used for such purpose.

It will be observed that the amount of gold coin actually consumed in the manufacture of bars for industrial uses, as reported by private refineries and Government institutions, was a little over one-seventh of the amount heretofore estimated to have been used annually for this purpose, namely, $3,500,000, which estimate (made some years ago) was based on four censuses taken by this Bureau. It is believed that now $1,500,000 would be a very liberal estimate of the amount of United States gold coin used in the arts annually, and considering the fact that fine gold bars of the weight of 5 ounces and upward, are manufactured by the Government institutions for use in the industrial arts, can be readily obtained by manufacturers and jewelers, and the further fact that by using bars they are subjected to no loss from abrasion, as would be the case if coin were used; it, therefore, seems reasonable to believe that manufacturers and jewelers would much prefer to use bullion in the shape of bars rather than coin.

In regard to United States silver coin used in the arts it is plain that manufacturers, who can buy silver bullion at the prevailing low price, prefer its use to that of coin. The bullion value of the silver dollar, at the average price of silver for the calendar year 1893, was 60 cents, and for this same dollar the manufacturer or jeweler could go into the market and buy 619 grains of fine silver.

It is not likely, therefore, that he would use coin when bullion can be so readily and cheaply obtained.

The estimate heretofore made of the amount of United States silver coin used annually in the arts was $200,000, which evidently is too high, from the fact that at no time since this estimate was made has the bullion value of the silver dollar been equal to 100 cents, much less the bullion value of the subsidiary coins, which contain less silver in proportion.

In accordance with these facts, it is believed that the amount of United States silver coin consumed annually in the arts does not exceed, if, indeed, it reaches, $100,000.

Making these allowances for the total amount of United States gold and silver coin, respectively, used in the arts, the table showing the industrial consumption of the precious metals in the United States in 1893 would have to be modified thus:

Material.	Gold.	Silver.	Total.
Domestic bullion	$8,354,482	$6,570,737	$14,925,219
United States coin	1,500,000	100,000	1,600,000

The value of the silver bars manufactured was $6,601,345, a decrease of $842,376 (or over 11 per cent) as compared with the previous fiscal year.

In the Appendix (p. 302) will be found a table showing the value and description of the gold and silver employed in the industrial arts in the United States for the years 1880-1893, inclusive, giving the items of each year separately.

For the sake of uniformity the value of silver has, as heretofore, been calculated at its coining rate, viz, $1.2929+ per fine ounce.

The following table exhibits the estimated product of the precious metals in the world for each calendar year since 1873:

The silver product is given at its commercial value, reckoned at the average market price of silver each year, as well as its coining value in United States dollars.

In the Appendix (p. 304) will be found a table showing the production of gold and silver in the world for the calendar years 1493-1893.

WORLD'S COINAGE.

In the Appendix (p. 291) will be found a table, revised from the latest information received, exhibiting the coinages of the various countries of the world during the calendar years 1891, 1892, and 1893.

The following is a summary of the same:

Calendar years.	Gold.	Silver.
1891.....	$119,534,122	$138,294,367
1892.....	172,473,124	153,700,697
1893.....	232,485,668	135,389,753

The above figures represent, as nearly as this Bureau has been able to ascertain, the total value of the gold and silver coinages executed in the world during the years therein named.

It must be borne in mind, however, that the total of these coinages does not correctly represent the amount of new gold and new silver made into coins during the year, for the reason that the coinages as reported include the value of domestic and foreign coins melted for recoinage, as well as old material, plate, etc., used in coinage.

In the circular letter of inquiry prepared at this Bureau and sent to foreign governments through the Department of State, asking for information on these subjects, it was especially requested that each country report the amount of such recoinages. This has been done in many instances, but not in all.

WORLD'S RECOINAGES.

The following table, compiled from official sources, exhibits approximately the recoinages of gold and silver of the principal countries of the world for 1892 and 1893, so far as the same has been reported to this Bureau:

VALUE OF FOREIGN COINS.

The law requires:

That the value of foreign coins as expressed in the money of account of the United States shall be that of the pure metal of such coin of standard value; and the values of the standard coins in circulation of the various nations of the world shall be estimated quarterly by the Director of the Mint and be proclaimed by the Secretary of the Treasury immediately after the passage of this act and thereafter quarterly on the 1st day of January, April, July, and October in each year.

In the Appendix (p. 299) a table will be found exhibiting the changes in the estimates of the values of foreign coins, from January 1, 1880, to October 1, 1894.

ASSAY LABORATORY, BUREAU OF THE MINT.

The assay office of the Bureau has been fully occupied during the year in testing the sample coins taken from each delivery by the coiners to the superintendents of the various mints.

The final adjudication of the fineness and weight of all coins produced at the mints lies, of course, with the annual assay commission, but meanwhile the avoidance of possible issuance of coins outside the legal weight and fineness is secured by prompt testing of all deliveries made by the coiners.

The unusually large gold coinage of the year has added much to the work required of the Bureau laboratory. Three hundred and ninety-nine gold coins and silver coins from 352 deliveries were assayed.

The following table shows, according to the mints, the number of coins assayed at the Bureau, and also by the annual assay commission, with the average fineness:

NUMBER OF DELIVERIES AND AVERAGE FINENESS OF GOLD AND SILVER COINS OF THE UNITED STATES TESTED AT THE BUREAU OF THE MINT AND BY THE ANNUAL ASSAY COMMISSION.

Institutions.	Gold.				Silver.
	Assayed at the Bureau.		Assayed at the annual assay commission.		Assayed at the Bureau.		Assayed at the annual assay commission.
	Number of deliveries.	Average fineness.	Number of deliveries.	Average fineness.	Number of deliveries.	Average fineness.	Number of deliveries.	Average fineness.
Philadelphia	120	900.07	16	899.98	139	899.98	15	899.80
San Francisco	194	899.92	11	899.79	58	900.08	8	899.50
New Orleans	53	900.08	6	899.99	120	899.97	11	899.94
Carson	32	899.98	5	899.96	35	900.21	5	900.64
Total	399	899.99	38	899.93	352	900.02	39	899.89

It will be seen that all were within the legal requirements.

In September, 1893, two half eagles were received from the New Orleans mint which showed on assay that cuttings from the same piece varied in fineness from .899 to .900,3. This being entirely unusual in the assay of standard gold, five additional pieces from the same delivery were asked for and furnished by the superintendent at New Orleans.

A large number of assays was made from these pieces, with the same strange results, fully confirming the accuracy of the previous work. A mass melt was made of the residue of these coins, and after a thorough mixing an ingot was obtained of uniform fineness showing only .899,5.

The issue of these coins was stopped, and Mr. Cabell Whitehead, the assayer to the Mint Bureau, was instructed to proceed to New Orleans and ascertain, if possible, the cause of this apparent "segregation" in gold bullion. One lot of $125,000 in half eagles was melted into ingots. A remelting was found necessary before a uniform assay could be obtained, and this showed a fineness of only .899,5, although the ingots from which the coins were originally made were passed at .900.

The mint at Philadelphia, working on bullion of the same description, suffered from an unusual number of melts condemned as "not mixed." Attention was naturally attracted to the history of the bullion which caused the trouble, and it was found that the bars sent to New Orleans and the Philadelphia mint were made several years ago at the New York assay office from foreign coin—chiefly Spanish. It was not refined, the natural supposition being that it was suitable for coinage, although it is now recalled that some difficulty was experienced in getting uniform assays.

The facts seemed to indicate the presence of some unusual element in this bullion, which only a complete analysis would reveal. The following table shows two such analyses made by the assayer of the Bureau. One is from a sample of the bullion sent to New Orleans, and the other is of coin made at the Philadelphia mint from bullion of the same character:

Metals.	New Orleans coin made (from Spanish coins).	Philadelphia coin made (from Spanish coins).
Gold	896.300	900.200
Silver	9.965	7.100
Copper (by dif)	93.6087	92.5654
Iron062	.030
Platinum047	.047
Lead	Trace.	Trace.
Bismuth	Trace.	Trace.
Arsenic	Trace.	.0002
Antimony0013	.0014
Tin		Trace.
Zinc015	.050
Nickel and cobalt001	.006
	1000	1000

The presence of zinc, nickel, and cobalt is unusual in gold bullion. The percentage of iron shown by the assays is a little higher than usual, but the presence of even larger quantities of this metal has not been found to cause segregation in gold ingots. We have not the same assurance as to the effect of zinc even in small quantities, and it is believed that the troublesome and anomalous results above mentioned may be fairly attributed to the presence of zinc in the bullion.

ANNUAL TRIAL OF COINS.

In conformity with section 3547 of the Revised Statutes the following Commissioners were appointed by the President to examine and test the fineness and weight of the gold and silver coins of the coinage of the calendar year 1893: Hon. D. W. Voorhees, Finance Committee, United States Senate; Hon. C. W. Stone, Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures, House of Representatives; Henry D. Welsh, esq., Pennsylvania; Horatio C. Burchard, esq., Illinois; Prof. J. A. Quarles, Virginia; Prof. Frederick Prime, Pennsylvania; Andrew Mason, esq., New York; Cabell Whitehead, esq., District of Columbia; Girault Farrar, esq., Louisiana; J. W. Ellsworth, esq., Illinois; Prof. George T. Winston, North Carolina; Prof. Arthur L. Perry, Massachusetts; L. Clarke Davis, esq., Pennsylvania; Talfouad P. Linn, esq., Ohio; John W. Woodside, esq., Pennsylvania.

The Commission met at Philadelphia on February 14, 1894, with the exception of Messrs. Butler, Voorhees, and Stone, all of the Commissioners being present, together with the following ex-officio Commissioners: James H. Eckels, esq., Comptroller of the Currency, and Herbert G. Torrey, assayer, United States assay office, New York.

The committee on counting reported:

The packages containing the pieces reserved by the several mints for the trial of coins, in accordance with section 3539, Revised Statutes, were delivered to us by the superintendent of the mint at Philadelphia.

The number of coins corresponded with the record kept by the Director of the Mint of all transcripts sent him by the several superintendents, with the exception that in delivery 243 from the New Orleans mint $5 (in half dollars) in excess were found.

The quantities of coin reserved at the several mints for the purposes of the Commission were as follows:

Mints.	Pieces.	Value.
GOLD.
Philadelphia.....	3,790	$33,495.00
San Francisco.....	1,364	22,490.00
Carson.....	94	840.00

Total.....	5,376	57,555.00

Total.....	13,714	4,409.75
Total pieces and value.....	19,090	61,964.75

The committee on assaying reported:

In compliance with section 3547 of the Revised Statutes we have taken samples of the coins reserved from time to time at the United States mints at Philadelphia, San Francisco, Carson, and New Orleans for assay.

These samples represent the various deliveries made by the coiners to the superintendents of the several mints during the calendar year 1893.

The result of the assays made of the individual coins, and of the same in mass, are given in the following schedules.

From these it will be seen that the greatest excess in the assay value of the gold coinage above standard at the different mints (the limit of tolerance being one-thousandth) is at—

Philadelphia.....	900.1
San Francisco.....	None.
New Orleans.....	900.2
Carson.....	900.3

The greatest deficiency below standard (the limit of tolerance being one-thousandth) is at—

Philadelphia.....	899.8
San Francisco.....	899.4
New Orleans.....	899.8
Carson.....	899.8

The greatest excess in silver coins above standard (the limit of tolerance being three-thousandths) is at—

Philadelphia.....	900.4
San Francisco.....	900.2
New Orleans.....	901.3
Carson.....	901.6

The greatest deficiency below standard (the limit of tolerance being three-thousandths) is at—

Philadelphia.....	899.3
San Francisco.....	899.6
New Orleans.....	899.1
Carson.....	900

The assay committee also tested the quartation of silver and the lead used in the assay of gold bullion and found them free from gold.

The acid used in the humid assay of silver was found to be free from silver and also from chlorine.

The balances used were also tested and found to be correct.

The committee therefore deem the assays exhibited in the accompanying schedules to be trustworthy.

The committee on weighing reported:

From the results shown the committee on weighing recommends that the trial of the weights of the coinage of the mints of 1893 be considered and reported satisfactory.

The result of the annual test is contained in the following resolution adopted by the Commission:

Resolved, That the assay commission having examined and tested the reserved coins of the several mints of the United States for the year 1893, and it appearing that these coins do not differ from the standard fineness and weight by a greater quantity than is allowed by law, the trial is considered, and hereby reported, satisfactory.

Resolved further, That the assay commission having compared the standard weights in use in the mint with the standard troy pound, and having found them to be correct, the comparison and test is hereby reported to be satisfactory.

Col. O. C. Bosbyshell having resigned as superintendent of the mint, was succeeded by Dr. Eugene Townsend, who entered on duty April 1, 1894.

The bullion, coin, and other moneys necessary to be taken into account in the transfer incident to the change of superintendents amounted to $187,301,854.20, classified as follows: Gold bullion, $24,266,094.04; gold coin, $3,824,217.50; silver bullion, $107,902,611.40; silver dollars, $50,275,000; subsidiary silver coin, $666,924.63, and minor coin, $344,195.81. The balance, $22,810.82, represents the value of the gold bullion embezzled by the late weigh clerk, which amount, it is believed, will be recovered from his bondsmen and those of the late superintendent.

Of the above amount, $161,696,313.41 were in the hands of the superintendent and $25,582,729.97 in the hands of the operative officers. No verification of latter amount was made at this time, as the bullion was legally in the hands of the operative officers.

Of the silver bullion purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, there were on hand 111,150 bars, containing 118,992,256 ounces of fine silver, costing $107,702,840.90.

An account of this bullion was taken by weight, and found to correspond with the amount charged. The weighing of the bullion occupied some four months, and was completed at the end of July, 1894.

Upon opening the vault containing the silver dollars, which had been stored in 1890, under the joint seal of a representative of the Mint Bureau and the superintendent of the mint, it was found that nearly all the bags, by reason of the dampness of the vault, had so rotted as to be little else than a mass of shreds. It was impracticable to verify the number of dollars by weight, as is usual in the case of new coins, on account of their wet and slimy condition, thus rendering it necessary to count them on a counting machine, a slow and tedious work. The count of these dollars is still in progress, under a representative of the Mint Bureau and representatives of the retiring and present superintendent, and will in all probability be completed by the end of December.

There is not only a lack of vault room in the Philadelphia Mint, but some of the vaults are so located that they are difficult of access, inconvenient, and ill-adapted for the storage of coin. The fact of their being situated below the level of the street renders them damp, so much so, that if coin be stored in them for any length of time the result will be mildewed and rotten bags, thus entailing much time and expense to count the coin whenever it becomes necessary to do so.

During the year, three gas-annealing furnaces were erected and put in operation.

The results obtained have been very satisfactory, owing to the uniform heat which the gas produces, and which could not be obtained by wood, as formerly used. There is also a saving of about 20 per cent in the operating expenses.

An electric-light plant has also been added which gives all the illuminating power required at a greatly reduced cost to that formerly supplied by the Edison Light Company, and it is estimated the plant will effect a saving of $5,000 annually.

Notwithstanding the increased amount of steam required to operate the dynamos, there has been no increase in the consumption of fuel, but on the contrary, the engines and boilers having been thoroughly overhauled, a saving of 33½ per cent in fuel has been effected, 66 tons of coal now producing 115 horsepower as against 95 tons formerly used to produce 75 horsepower, and the amount of ashes has declined nearly one-half.

The annual settlement at the mint at Philadelphia June 30, 1894, was superintended by Mr. Cabell Whitehead, of this Bureau, who reported the settlement as satisfactory.

The percentage of finished gold coin produced from amount operated upon was 43.59 per cent and silver 50.88 per cent.

On the annual settlement of the accounts of the coiner it was found that in operating upon 199,477.200 ounces of standard gold ingots during the fiscal year 1894, there was a wastage of 14.788 ounces of standard gold, or 14.82 per cent of the legal allowance as fixed by law.

In operating on 2,928,073.70 ounces of standard silver during the year, the actual silver wastage of the coiner was 120.04 ounces standard, or 4.09 per cent of the legal allowance.

During the year, the assayer made 10,738 assays, 3,053 of which were gold and 7,685 silver.

The annual settlement at the mint at New Orleans, June 30, 1894, was superintended by Messrs. John T. Kent, of the United States assay office at New York, and W. F. Bowen, of the Bureau of the Mint, who reported in writing that they found on hand all the money and bullion with which the superintendent was charged.

The former cashier of the mint at New Orleans, who was arrested for the embezzlement of $25,000 in June, 1893, was tried before the United States court at New Orleans in December last, and was acquitted of the charge.

Suit has been instituted against the former superintendent, Dr. Andrew W. Smyth, and is now pending for the recovery of the amount.

The President having removed the superintendent, assayer, melter and refiner, and coiner of the mint at New Orleans, Overton Cade was appointed superintendent; R. L. Schroeder, assayer; Lewis Guion, melter and refiner; and H. Gibbs Morgan, coiner; all of whom entered upon duty July 22, 1893.

J. W. Adams, esq., having been appointed superintendent, and Hirsch Harris, melter and refiner, of the mint at Carson, entered upon their respective duties June 1, 1894. At this time a complete settlement was made of both the superintendent's and melter and refiner's accounts. Upon the settlement of the melter and refiner's accounts, it was found that he had received from the superintendent during the year gold bullion containing 71,077.619 ounces standard, and silver bullion containing 967,921.12 ounces standard. During the eleven months ended May 31, 1894, he operated upon 67,637.825 ounces of standard gold and 957,779.57 ounces of standard silver. In his gold operations he incurred a wastage of 8.009 ounces of gold, or 11.84 per cent of the legal allowance, and a wastage in his silver operations of 1.379.86 ounces standard, or 96.05 per cent of the legal allowance.

The superintendent of the mint at Carson, in explanation of the large wastage of silver by the melter and refiner in his operations, states that it was due to the fact that a large amount of fine silver, about 600,000 ounces, was received from the refinery at a fineness of from 0.991 to 0.992 and refined by crucible to 0.997½ and upward. The explanation of the superintendent is not a satisfactory one.

At the time the settlement was made, June 1, 1894, the melter and refiner was ill and died shortly thereafter. The Bureau is at a loss to understand why the melter and refiner should have adopted the mode of procedure described above. Such procedure is not consistent with good mint practice since silver bullion of the fineness of 0.991 and 0.992 is clearly suitable for coinage, the base metal being copper. If the refining was done for the preparation of fine bars, a reference to article 7, section 2, page 7, of the Regulations would have shown that "fine bars may be approved when they have a fineness of 0.992 and upward."

A much less drastic treatment would have brought this silver within the category of fine bars, and no treatment at all was needed for fitting it for coinage. While the treatment adopted appears to have been clearly injudicious, yet it might be more readily excused if the fluxes and sweeps had shown a large part of the missing bullion, as was to be expected. Measures have been adopted that will prevent this course of treatment of bullion in the refinery hereafter.

Messrs. B. E. Butler and F. W. Braddock, who had been designated to superintend the annual settlements at the mints on the Pacific Coast, were unable to reach Carson before the close of the fiscal year, being detained en route by the railroad strike. A complete settlement, however, of the accounts of both the superintendent and melter and refiner having been made June 1, when the present superintendent, J. W. Adams, and Melter and Refiner Hirsch Harris entered upon their respective duties, it was not deemed necessary to have a general settlement of the melter and refiner's accounts. The representatives of the Bureau, after completing the counting and weighing of the coin and bullion in the hands of the superintendent of the mint at San Francisco, visited Carson and weighed and counted the bullion and coin in the hands of the superintendent of the mint at that place, and found the same to agree with the accounts.

ASSAY OFFICE AT NEW YORK.

The value of the gold and silver deposited at the United States assay office at New York during the fiscal year 1894 aggregated $48,224,012.04 against $26,506,360.92; an increase of $21,717,651.29 over 1893.

United States gold coin (worn and mutilated), containing 21,650.106 ounces standard of the coining value of $402,792.67, and uncurrent silver coins containing 580.82 ounces standard of the coining value of $675.86, were deposited during the year.

Foreign gold coins containing 582,841.914 ounces standard of the coining value of $10,843,570.49, and silver coins containing 469,660.74 ounces standard of the coining value of $546,514.32, were also deposited during the year.

The weight and value of the deposits were as follows:

Metals.	Weight.	Value.
	Standard ozs.
Gold	2, 239, 946. 300	$41, 115, 280. 00
Silver.....	6, 109, 066. 60	7, 108, 732. 04
Total value.....		48, 224, 012. 04

During the year fine gold bars of the value of $5,322,221.21, and fine silver bars of the value of $6,569,578.66, were issued for use in the industrial arts and manufactures.

The quantity of bullion operated upon in the melter and refiner's department was:

Bullion.	Weight.
	Standard ozs.
Gold	2, 225, 033. 852
Silver.....	6, 060, 036. 36

The operations of the refinery of the assay office at New York were as follows:

REFINERY OPERATIONS, 1894.

Bullion.	Weight.	Value.
Gross weight 4, 514, 573. 93 ounces.	Standard ozs.
Gold	516, 084. 116	$9, 601, 564. 95

Total	4, 446, 237. 486	14, 174, 834. 31

The amount of sulphuric acid used for parting operations was 1,583,310 pounds.

The proceeds of sale of spent acids and blue vitriol amounted to $11,997.54, and of old material, $348.48, a total of $12,346.02.

The number of fine, mint, and standard bars manufactured was 53,549, containing 2,199,184.245 ounces of standard gold of the value of $40,915,055.72, and 6,066,507.60 ounces of standard silver of the value of $7,059,208.84.

The number of gold deposits melted was 7.473, and of silver, 3,417.

On the annual settlement of his accounts at the close of the fiscal year it appears that the melter and refiner in operating upon 2,225,033.852 ounces of standard gold bullion incurred a wastage of 137.198 ounces standard of the value of $2,552.52, being 6.166 per cent of the legal allowance. In operating upon 6,060,036.36 ounces of standard silver bullion during the year the melter and refiner returned a surplus of 603.31 ounces standard of the value of $603.31.

The work of the assay department during the year comprised the testing of some 12,000 melts of metal and 600 to 700 barrels of sweeps, in addition to the stamping of nearly 60,000 bars and the making of a large number of special assays of bullion.

The tenants of the higher floors of a new building, erected during the year on the street immediately in the rear of the refinery, having complained that the smoke, fumes of acids, etc., from the refinery were a great annoyance, the owner called the attention of the superintendent thereto. The matter, through the superintendent of repairs to public buildings in New York, was referred to the Supervising Architect at Washington, with the result that an iron pipe 5 feet in diameter and 52 feet long was placed on the top of the stack, raising its outlet some distance above the building and obviating all cause of complaint.

The addition to the stack is attached to and supported by the building, and is covered with paint claimed to be steam and acid proof.

The skylight in the weigh room of the assay department has been enlarged, effecting a saving of expenditure for artificial light and adding greatly to the comfort of the employees.

An opening made in the ceiling of the receiving room and in the hall floor of the second story extends the benefit of a skylight to that room and improves its ventilation.

Messrs. H. Clay Stier, of the First Auditor's Office, and A. A. Hassan, of the Bureau of the Mint, superintended the annual settlement, June 30, 1894, and reported that they found on hand all the coin and bullion with which the superintendent was charged.

MINT AT DENVER.

The value of the bullion operated upon at the mint of the United States at Denver, Colo., during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1894, was $3,259,277.77, an increase of $1,841,482.90 over the deposits of the previous year.

The number of deposits received and melted during the fiscal year 1894 was 3,674, a gain over 1893 of 1,595.

The increase in the deposits of gold is due, first, to the increase in the gold output of Colorado and the adjacent States and Territories; secondly, to the fact that two of the largest smelting and refining works in the West deposit their fine gold bars at the Denver mint, where they are paid for either by check on the depository banks at Denver or on the Assistant Treasurer of the United States at Chicago, Ill.

Owing to the large increase in the deposits of gold, it has been found necessary to erect an additional melting furnace, which will increase the melting capacity one-third. A small toughening plant will also be erected at an early date, at a cost of about $500.

The deposits, earnings, and expenditures for the fiscal year are shown in the following table:

The work of the minor assay offices at Helena, Mont.; Boise, Idaho; Charlotte, N. C.; St. Louis, Mo., and the mint at Denver, Colo., which consists in the receipt and assaying of deposits and the manufacture of unparted bars of gold and silver, during the fiscal years 1893 and 1894, was as follows:

The following table is a summary of the three preceding tables, showing the value of the precious metals operated on at the mints and minor assay offices during the fiscal years 1893 and 1894:

BULLION OPERATED UPON IN THE MELTING AND COINING DEPARTMENTS OF ALL THE MINTS AND ASSAY OFFICES, 1893 AND 1894.

In quantity the precious metals operated upon in the different departments of the mints and assay offices during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1894, exceeded 860 tons of gold and 1,069 tons of silver.

The value of the precious metals wasted in the metallurgical and mechanical departments was $29,174.35.

A loss of $16,794.30 occurred from the difference between the assay value of bullion contained in sweeps and leady melts sold and the amount received for the same.

The wastages and losses aggregated $45,968.65. Against these losses there were gains arising from the operations on bullion as follows:

Character.	Amount.
Surplus bullion returned by the operative officers.....	$23,125.86
Precious metals recovered in grains and sweepings.....	8,177.96
Gain on bullion shipped from the minor assay offices to the mint for coinage.....	6,362.85
Total gains.....	37,666.67

Deducting the value of the total operative wastage and loss on sale of sweeps from the value of incidental gains of bullion, there was a net loss in the operations of the mints during the year of $8,301.98.

MONETARY STATISTICS OF FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

The statistics of the coinage and production of the precious metals, imports and exports of gold and silver, amount of bank and Government notes, both covered and uncovered, of the different foreign countries published annually in the reports of this Bureau are obtained directly from the governments of such countries by the representatives of the United States accredited to them.

A list of interrogatories embodying the points on which information is sought is sent every year to our ambassadors and ministers through the Department of State, and the answers are received in the form of reports made directly to this Bureau.

The questions relating to the calendar year 1893 are as follows:

- (1) What was the amount of gold coined during the calendar year 1893, by denominations and values? What amount was recoinced (withdrawn from circulation) during the year, domestic and foreign coins separately?
- (2) Same question as to silver.
- (3) What was the weight and value of the gold used in the industrial arts during the year?
- (4) Same question as to silver.

- (5) What was the import and export of gold during the calendar year 1893? Coin, bullion, and ore, as well as their weight and value, should be given separately, if possible.
- (6) Same question as to silver.
- (7) What was the weight, expressed in kilograms, and the value of the gold produced from the mines of the country during the calendar year 1893?
- (8) Same question as to silver. In answering this interrogatory, state whether the value given is commercial or coining value.
- (9) What was the output of gold from the refineries of the country during the year?
- (10) Same question as to silver.
- (11) What, approximately, was the stock of gold coin and bullion in the country at the close of the calendar year 1893?
- (12) Same question as to silver.
- (13) What was the amount of Government notes outstanding at the same date?
- (14) What was the amount of bank notes outstanding?
- (15) What was the amount of uncovered Government notes?
- (16) What was the amount of uncovered bank notes?
- (17) What is the actual currency of the country—gold and silver, or inconvertible paper?
- (18) Is gold at a premium as compared with the actual currency of the country; and, if it is, what was the average premium during the year 1893?
- (19) Were any laws passed during the year 1893 affecting the coinage, issue, or legal-tender character of the metallic or paper currency? If so, please transmit copies of the same.
- (20) Is there a report published of the operations of the mint? If so, please forward a copy.

It is usual for the Bureau to supplement the information received through our foreign representatives by other statistical data obtained from printed documents, both official and nonofficial.

THE GERMAN SILVER COMMISSION.

The commission appointed in January, 1894, by the Imperial German Government, "to discuss measures for raising and fixing the value of silver," held its first session on the 22d of February, 1894, in Berlin, and its final session on the 6th of June following. It was a commission appointed to discuss, debate, propose, but had no right to vote on any measure. Its essential duty was to give information to the Imperial Government on the means of raising the value of silver, and this task it ably discharged. The commission consisted of twenty-eight members (nine of whom represented the Government). Among them were such pronounced monometallists as Ludwig Bamberger, and such double standard advocates as Otto Arendt. The discussions were exhaustive and learned. The report of the commission is in two large volumes, the first containing 714 pages, the second about one-third of that number.

The following is a list of the most important papers and propositions laid before the commission:

- (1) By Bergrath Schmeisser: Report on the permanency of gold mining in the South African Republic.
- (2) By Count von Kanitz: Draft of an Imperial coinage law introducing the double standard into Germany at the ratio of 1 to 15 $\frac{1}{2}$.
- (3) By Professor Lexis: Propositions for raising the value of silver.
- (4) Tables relating to the execution of the German monetary reform.
- (5) Proposition for an international monetary agreement, by Dr. Arendt and others.
- (6) History preparatory to that of the German monetary reform, by Dr. Bamberger.
- (7) Proposition for an international double standard, by Bank Director Neustadt.
- (8) Tables of prices in Germany from 1871 to 1893, by the statistical office of the Empire.
- (9) Propositions respecting transition measures to raise the value of silver, by Dr. Arendt.
- (10) Present condition of the world's production of the precious metals, by Dr. Hauchecorne.
- (11) The circulation of German thalers.
- (12) History preparatory to that of the German monetary reform, by Dr. Arendt.
- (13) The question of the standard and industry.
- (14) Is a considerable diminution of Germany's monetary gold stock to be feared after the execution of a convention providing for the double standard?
- (15) The German sales of silver compared with the production of silver.
- (16) Table showing the copper contents of Mansfeld copper ore.
- (17) On the occurrence and permanency of gold in their economic bearings, by Mining Inspector Wimmer.

Mr. von Posadowski, president of the commission and secretary of state in the treasury of the Empire, has summed up, in a very impartial manner, the arguments made by both the monometallists and the bimetalists who took part in the debates.

The following is a translation of Mr. Arthur Raffolovich's version of the president's summary, extracted from the Économiste Français of October 27, 1894:

The bimetalists alleged that since the introduction of the gold standard, the price of silver has fallen more than 50 per cent. They did not find the cause of this phenomenon in the increase of production, for if, with respect to the comparative conditions of the production of gold and silver, we go back to the year 1850, that is, to a period anterior to the Californian discoveries, we find that the production of gold increased in much larger proportions than that of silver, and that notwithstanding the price of the yellow metal never fell perceptibly at any time. Bimetalists find the causes of the depreciation of silver in governmental measures exclusively, that is, in the demonetization of silver and the closing of the mints to its free coinage.

The bimetalists maintain that there is an unlimited demand for silver, and in support of this, cite the fact that all the silver produced immediately finds a purchaser and that there is no supply of silver on the market in excess of the demand for it. They find the effects of the demonetization of silver, first of all in the increasing purchasing power of gold, and they then infer that, as at present it is necessary to give for the same amount of gold a greater amount of merchandise or of labor than in the past the gold standard has caused the price of commodities to fall. In order to show the effects of the standard on the prices of the principal articles of consumption, the bimetalists rely on the well-known tables of Mr. Augustus Sauerbeck, on those of the London Economist, and on a whole series of statistical data.

The bimetalists see in this decline of the prices of commodities, not only the cause of the economic crisis, and consequently of an economic evil, but they infer that this business depression is attended by disastrous political consequences, and that it may be said that the development of revolutionary socialism, and even of that of German Anti-Semitism, depends in a certain measure on business depression. They see in the introduction of bimetallism the remedy for actual economic and political evils; they maintain that there is not sufficient gold at present for the countries that have the gold standard already; if these countries maintain their monetary system, the other States which still have the silver standard will be forced by the general conditions of trade to adopt the gold standard, and from the adoption of that standard there would result a still greater scarcity of gold, in consequence of which there would be a new decline of prices. The bimetallists declare that geological research shows that there is a great probability that, in the future, and even in the near future, the auriferous beds of the world will be exhausted, and that their exhaustion will be followed by an aggravation of existing evils.

The bimetallists, therefore, demand a legal-tender power of silver equal to that of gold, and they desire to attain that equality for silver by means of free coinage of the white metal; from which they expect a greater circulation of the media of payment, and as a consequence of the latter, a rise of prices, and therefore the termination of the actual present business depression.

The representatives of bimetallism have besides declared that the ratio between gold and silver, so far as they were concerned, is a secondary question. They say, however, that the restoration of the old ratio of 1 to 15½ is an end worthy of attainment, and they do not consider it a condition sine qua non in bimetallic negotiations. They even believe that the ratio between the two metals may be the object of a compromise. They allege that from the moment when the demonetization of silver ceased, when the situation which existed before the adoption of the gold standard has been restored, the old ratio will become established of itself, and that silver will stand to gold in the ratio of 1 to 15½. Lastly, they affirm that the charge made by the monometallists that the bimetallists desire to meet their obligations in a depreciated money or one of less value is unjust, and this because as soon as, in consequence of the legal introduction of bimetallism, silver has obtained the same payment power as gold the payments of debts may just as well be made in the white metal, whose intrinsic value will be equal to that of gold.

The bimetallists who heard this résumé of the president of the conference, Mr. Posadowski, made no protest against its accuracy, and it may be admitted that it represents their platform.

Mr. Posadowski made a similar résumé of the arguments of the partisans of the gold standard. In the course of the debates of the conference he said the representatives of the gold standard did not deny that the legislative measures taken since 1873 exercised an influence on the fluctuations of silver, but they insisted that the influence of the increase in the production of silver and its effect on the decline of that metal should be taken into consideration. It is true, they admitted, that there is no surplus supply of silver in the market, and that all the silver produced finds a purchaser, but it finds a purchaser only at a reduced price of the metal, and in this reduced price the excess of production naturally finds its commercial expression.

The partisans of the gold standard are therefore of opinion that the demonetization of silver, in the form of bimetallism, would not restore the old parity of 1 to 15½. They think that the legal ratio should be regulated by the real ratio of prices, as was the case when France, at the beginning of this century, adopted its monetary system, but they do not believe that by granting the free and unlimited coinage of silver it is possible to return again to the old parity of 1 to 15½, and they are of the opinion that it is impossible to regulate the prices of the precious metals for all time by monetary laws, and especially not the price of silver. Do they, nevertheless, desire to try the experiment? The divergence between the commercial price of the metal and its legal value would find its natural expression in a premium on gold.

The representatives of the gold standard maintain that it is not the price of gold which has risen, but rather the price of silver which has lowered; they do not recognize any great force in the statistical tables, especially those of Mr. Sauerbeck, who claims to have demonstrated that there is a close and constant relation between the price of silver and the price of commodities; they object that, if such a latent economic law existed, it would apply to the price of all commodities. If, on the one hand, it can not be denied that since the adoption of the gold standard a whole series of commodities has fallen in price, as many examples may be cited whose prices have risen; in any event, it is incontestable that wages (the price of manual labor) have risen.

They also maintain that the fall of the price of commodities, where it has taken place, has its origin in an improvement of the processes of production, and on the other hand, in the perfecting of the means of transportation. They deny that the existence of the scarcity of gold at the present time has been demonstrated. If gold is too scarce, gold being the legal instrument of payment, it logically follows that the rate charged for the loan of the instruments of payment is expressed by interest and discount. But, during the last twenty years, there has been a decline both of the rate of interest and the rate of discount.

Besides, the partisans of the gold standard are of the opinion that by the introduction of the double standard the monetary rise of prices might be produced, perhaps even a rocket-like rise of prices. Not only the prices of the products which the agriculturist sells would rise, but also the price of the commodities which the agriculturists buy, as well as the price of labor—that is, wages, this last increasing gradually. They have therefore tried to show that if the price of commodities rises, the net products would not increase in the same proportion.

As to wages, there should be reason to fear, in the first place, that in case the prices of the products of agriculture and of other commodities advanced, there would be a deterioration in the standard of living of all workmen not paid in kind; experience having proved that when there is a general rise of prices wages paid in money are the slowest to rise. One point, however, was conceded by the monometallist; that is, that the introduction of bimetallism might, to a certain extent, be advantageous to the working classes. It was conceded also that the rise of prices of commodities would make the reimbursement of debts requiring fixed payment more easy.

Lastly, the monometallists explained that, even if this advantage were accepted for debtors, the higher prices would constitute a perceptible disadvantage to those with fixed incomes, and that the creditor would be injured in the same proportion, as the debtor would find it easier to pay his debts. The creditor is not always the stronger economically.

The partisans of the gold standard, therefore, believe that the introduction of bimetallism would cause a modification of prices, but that this modification of prices would produce only a temporary and apparent improvement. Some of them have not ignored that with a depreciation of silver serious inconvenience to trade with countries having a depreciated currency would result, but they contend that the evils caused by a modification of the gold monetary system of Germany would extend to larger circles, and would assume dimensions much more considerable.

With respect to the international agreement, they contended that, even on the hypothesis that bimetallism be desirable, expediency demands that, under any circumstances, the initiative should be taken by England, for if it were desired to introduce bimetallism legally without the participation of England the price of silver might be doubtless temporarily raised. In this way a remedy would be indirectly applied to the evils from which England suffers, and the latter would consequently have fewer incentives to enter into bimetallic union.

The partisans of the actual régime have therefore remained faithful to the attitude which they had hitherto maintained. They do not consider the introduction of the double standard necessary nor economically useful.

Considering the interest attached to the résumé of the president of the German silver commission, we have deemed it useful to faithfully translate it. We shall add to it the conclusion which Mr. von Posadowski expressed at the closing session of the commission.

"I believe," he said, "that the commission is agreed upon three points—that the fluctuations and the low price of silver have caused certain inconveniences to our export trade and our domestic production; that Germany alone is not in a position to take effectual measures to raise the price of silver; that an enhancement of the price of silver by means of a monopoly of a syndicate or of the purchase of the mines by the State could not be effected.

"No understanding has been reached on the question whether, in view of free production, the rise of prices might not be effected, nor by what means; nor of the question, what degree of importance, in view of the general interests of all, should be given to the particular interests compromised by the decline of silver; nor what fixed ratio should be proposed for an international convention; nor on the question whether the remedies proposed from various directions would not be more dangerous than the disease itself."

The German minister added that no matter to what party a person belonged, he had to admit that the inconveniences existing in the monetary domain are difficult of suppression, and this in consequence of the international trade of Germany. One should not identify with monetary questions economic evils, the responsibility for which an impartial judge could not trace, except in part, to the monetary régime.

The silver commission devoted its last five sessions to a debate between experts on the researches of geology and mining science.

In conclusion, we would remark that the commission has no political bearing or sanction. Germany has brought its contribution to monetary literature. Those who have had the courage to peruse the two enormous volumes of the report of its proceedings will share our [Mr. Radlovich's] opinion that it has not added a single new argument which can cause Germany to regret the reform which it accomplished in 1873.

MONETARY SYSTEMS OF THE PRINCIPAL COUNTRIES OF THE WORLD.

In the Appendix will be found a brief abstract of the monetary systems of the principal foreign countries,* which, however, had no claim to an official character. It is simply a compilation from the latest and most reliable sources, especially Schönberg's Handbuch der National-Oekonomie, Say and Chailley's Dictionnaire de L'Economie Politique, Haupt's Arbitrages et Parités, Tate's Modern Cambist, and a pamphlet prepared in 1892 by the then director, Mr. E. O. Leech, on the monetary systems of the principal countries, the full and free use of all of which has been made in the preparation of the briefs, and the indebtedness of the Bureau to each is hereby acknowledged.

Acknowledgments are due the officers and clerical staff of the Bureau for the zeal and fidelity displayed in the performance of their duty.

Very respectfully,

R. E. PRESTON,
Director of the Mint.

Hon. J. G. CARLISLE,
Secretary of the Treasury, Washington, D. C.
